IN THE JAIL AT RAVENNA.

THE FUR ROBBERS AND MURDERERS REMOVED.

Sensitive "Blinky" Morgan Doesn't Want the Public Gazing at Him—The Extraordinary Precaution Taken to Prevent Their Escape—The Lansing Arrest.

RAVENNA, O., July 7.—"Blinky" Morgan and his two pals, Coughlin and Harrington, or Robertson, as he is sometimes known, are now behind the bars in the Portage county jail. Although it was attempted to keep it very quiet by the officials, a couple of hundred men, women and boys were at the depot on the arrival of the train last night. The train thugs and murderers were accompanied by six detectives, the sheriff and his deputy. The prisoners were firmly shackled, and one move out of the way and they would have been riddled with bullets. They were hurriedly placed in two cabs and driven to the jail on a dead run. At the jail they were thoroughly searched and placed in separate cells on the ground floor.

After the excitement had subsided a reporter conversed with the prisoners. Blinky was talkative, but insisted that he did not desire to see the public in general, and requested the sheriff to send to Ryder, of Cleveland, at once and obtain a picture so that it might be shown the anxious public when they called to see him instead of permitting them to enter. Nothing concerning the crime or their line of defense could be elicited from any of the prisoners.

No stock is taken in the story that Harrington or Robinson, as he is known in Pittsburgh, can prove an alibi. The officials say it would take some of the best citizens in Pittsburgh to swear to it to have it believed, as it is common talk among Cleveland and Ravenna officials that some Pittsburgh officials have not washed their hands as clean of this affair as they might. Even admitting that Harrington was in Pittsburgh at a dance on the night of the murderous affray, the affair did not take place until four in the morning, which would have given him ample time to come to Ravenna.

Every precaution possible to keep the prisoners safely has been taken. New screens have been put on the jail windows, and lamps burn the entire night around the jail. Beside a heavy guard on the inside, a number of men have been placed on the outside to watch the jail, both day and night, and a rescue would be almost an utter impossibility. Jack Gibbons, the druggist and ex-police officer, has been engaged as inside guard, he being known as one of the most courageous men in this section. The prisoners rested well last night, and seemed to enjoy their breakfast this morning. The Cleveland officials left for home to-day. No date has yet been set for the preliminary examination.

Arrest at Lansing.
DETROIT, Mich., July 7.—A Lansing, Mich., special to the Evening News says: The man under arrest here is suspected to be Matt. Kennedy, the Cleveland fur robber, is five feet nine inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, has a dark complexion, black curly hair, grayish blue eyes, a long, sharp nose and an upper set of false teeth, of which two are missing in front. He was arrested last night at the farm of J. W. Hunter, in Watertown township, Clinton county, where he had been engaged since July 4 as a farm hand. He says his name is Jesse Lamb, and claims Hiram Ainslee and Earl Smith, respectable farmers of Watertown, are his uncles. He says he has not been out of the state in three years. He is exceedingly green and unsophisticated appearing. When arrested, Lamb professed ignorance of the fur robbery, but on Hunter's advice went with the officers, who did not even take the precaution to handcuff him. This, coupled with the fact that Lamb has since last evening been much of the time alone in the rickety North Lansing look-up, from which Kennedy could have escaped in five minutes, gives the case a decidedly chestnut flavor. Detroit officials believe it is a case of mistaken identity.

The Account from Cleveland.
CLEVELAND, O., July 7.—The fur robbers, who murdered Detective Hurligan, are making desperate efforts to clear themselves, and will all have alibis. Billy Harrington claims to be John Robinson. His sister and Pittsburgh people can prove this. Coughlin lives at Elyria, and has a newspaper man and a small boy to prove that on the night of the tragedy he was at home. Capt. Hoehn, who had the hand-to-hand fight with the robbers, says the contrary. Blinky Morgan is playing the sympathy racket. At 4:15 Sheriff Sawyer transferred the three murderers to Ravenna, where the rescue of W. Mann took place. The trial will be held in September. Just after the removal of the prisoners Lieut. Kotes received a dispatch from L. E. Needham, at North Lansing, Mich., saying that he had arrested Mat Kennedy, alias McMann.

"KNIGHTS OF THE SWITCH."
Objects and Aims of This Organization From a Member.

CLEVELAND, O., July 7.—The press has received from a member of the "Knights of the Switch," who so terribly whipped a couple of disreputable women at Winchester, O., a couple of weeks ago, and yesterday chastised the Naushee brothers at Corydon, Ind., a letter setting forth the character and aims of the organization. The informant alleges that that the order was founded at Pittsburgh three weeks ago for the purpose of dealing with three murderers now in jail at that place, and who seem likely to escape legal hanging. "Your fur robbers," he continues, "will never escape; the Chicago Anarchists will not escape, even if they are given a new trial, and the jury will not escape if they render a verdict of less than murder in the first degree."

Several members of the Cleveland common council are threatened with extermination for having voted to pass an ordinance permitting Sunday base ball playing. The official name of the organization is the "White-capped Knights, or Invincibles for Law and Order." There are branches in every large city of the United States. Its avowed object is to mete out justice, where the law is perverted or has no jurisdiction.

MISTAKEN FOR A BURGLAR.

An Innocent Man Shot by a Police Officer in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, July 7.—A most unfortunate affair, in which a German citizen met his death at the hands of a police officer, took place shortly before midnight last night. The unfortunate man was Philip J. Fisher, a cabinet maker, who lives at No. 557 Walnut street, and the equally unfortunate officer, Val. Reisinger, of the Bremen street station. Fisher had quarreled in the morning with a fellow tenant, Mrs. Amalia Soeffle, who threatened his arrest. The poor fellow, fearing detention, resolved to sleep in the attic, and when bed time came, climbed up with a pillow and, quitted comfort. Being warm he got out on the roof. The neighborhood being thickly populated his presence was soon discovered, and a report circulated to the effect that he was a burglar.

This information was conveyed to the station, Lieut. Rakel responding. Reisinger was picked up on the route and both officers entered an adjoining house. As they climbed through the squalid Fisher started to run across the closely-adjoining roofs. This satisfied the officers that something was wrong. Reisinger fired twice. After a chase the fugitive disappeared but was soon found six doors away from his own house mortally wounded by a bullet in the intestines, which had entered from the rear. A patrol wagon removed him to the hospital, where he died at noon. Fisher was forty-nine years old. His conduct in running away is easily explained by his fear of arrest. Reisinger states that he did not intend to shoot the fugitive but merely to check him. He believed him to be a burglar or he would not have fired.

Police Captain on Trial.
NEW YORK, July 7.—Police Captain Alexander Williams was placed on trial to-day before the police commissioners on charges preferred by Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby and other citizens that he knowingly permitted certain disorderly houses to continue their traffic in his precinct, and that he also permitted violations of the excise law in Tom Gould's and other disreputable resorts. It was also charged that when Jules Chatetan, acting on behalf of a number of property-owners, called the captain's attention to the state of things in the neighborhood, he was answered with a volley of abuse. The captain pleaded not guilty. Testimony was then presented, showing the bad character of a number of the houses in the precinct. Ex-United States District Attorney Elihu Root appeared as counsel for Captain Williams.

Thought He Was Fooling.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 7.—Late last night the sergeant at the police station heard a scream from behind the bars, and, running back, found Pleas Terry, an old negro, trying to hang a small boy, who was also a prisoner. The negro made a rope out of a blanket, and, catching the boy, proceeded to hang him to the bars of the cell. A woman who was scrubbing gave the alarm. The boy was unconscious when rescued by the sergeant. Terry was examined and pronounced insane by Dr. H. Mitchell. The boy thought the negro was fooling until it was too late to help himself.

Forced to Hide in the "Jim Crow."
CHARLESTON, S. C., July 7.—Rev. W. A. Sinclair, of Georgetown, S. C., black, but intelligent and popular, was, with his wife, ejected from a first-class car on the Western & Atlantic railroad, near Chattanooga, and forced to ride on the "Jim Crow" car, which was filled with smoke and not a first-class car, although they had first-class tickets. Mr. Sinclair says he was badly beaten by the train hands. He will appeal to the interstate commission and also bring suit in the courts against the railroad. He is supported by many prominent whites of the state.

Accident to Two Ladies.
CHARLOTTE, Mich., July 7.—An accident occurred on the Chicago & Grand Trunk railway a few miles north of this city last night, whereby Mrs. Henry Underhill was instantly killed and Miss Maud Biye injured so badly that she is expected to die. They were trying to cross the track with a carriage when a special train, hrid from view by a freight standing on a siding, came along and caught them before they realized their danger.

Charged With Stealing Chickens.
ZANESVILLE, O., July 7.—William Perry and William Sparrowgrove, two prominent Meigs county farmers, were arrested yesterday for stealing a wagon-load of chickens, which they brought to this market to sell. It is ascertained that these two men have been preying on their neighbors' poultry by the wholesale for the past three years, and have become rich at the business. Their victims are preparing to have the case vigorously prosecuted.

Murderous Work of a Lunatic.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 7.—A special from Jonesboro, Ark., says yesterday a man got off the west bound train at that place, and walking up to a small crowd of people, drew his revolver and fired three shots, killing one man and fatally wounding another. The man was captured. He is a stranger, and is believed to be an escaped lunatic.

Almost Lynched for a Joke.
WHEELING, W. Va., July 7.—William Flooding, a wife beater, was strung up by the neck by some of his fellow-workmen at the Crescent mill yesterday morning. He narrowly escaped death, being cut down in the nick of time by his friends. His assailants say the affair was only a joke.

A Noted Police Chief Dead.
PITTSBURGH, July 7.—Robert Hague, who was chief of police of Pittsburgh from 1840 to 1873, died yesterday, aged eighty-two. He had a national reputation in police circles, and was interested in several noted cases in the oil regions.

Jacob Sharp's Birthday.
NEW YORK, July 7.—Jacob Sharp feels somewhat better to-day, although he ate no breakfast. To-day is Mr. Sharp's seventieth birthday. He preserves an unbroken silence for hours at a time. Mrs. Sharp still remains by his side.

An Attorney Murdered.
CLEVELAND, O., July 7.—William Burris, attorney, of Buckeye City, O., was shot and killed last night by Zack Habbitts. The killing was the result of an old feud. Habbitts was arrested and jailed at Mt. Vernon.

LABOR TROUBLE FEARED.

EXCITEMENT OVER THE PINKERTON MEN IN THE COKE REGION.

The Strikers Becoming Indignant, and Bloodshed May Follow—The Operators Denounced in the Loudest Terms—The Glass Manufacturers—Labor News.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 7.—The presence of Pinkerton's armed men in the coke regions has caused intense excitement and serious trouble may follow. The strikers are indignant and denounce the action of the operators in bringing the detectives into the regions in the loudest terms.

Last night 500 strikers at West Leisenring held a meeting and unanimously resolved to continue the strike. At Jintown, it is said, the men are weakening and a large number are expected to return to work before the close of the week.

William Mullen, secretary of the Miners' association, in a statement to the newspapers, says: "The men are quiet, but determined, and the introduction of the Pinkerton detectives into the coke regions will be the advent of a bitter feeling between employers and employed that years will not eradicate. The strikers will be counseled to keep within the limits of the law, but the landing of Pinkerton's agents has been the starting of rioting and of bloodshed wherever they have been used. There may be some disturbance in the Connelsville coke region, however, and some lives lost. The responsibility will rest upon those who brought the detectives here."

The detectives are in charge of Superintendent Linden, of Philadelphia, and Capt. Foley, of Chicago. They are not here, they say, to cause trouble, but to prevent it and to protect those who desire to return to work. The will remain until the strike has been broken.

Chicago Seamen's Union.
CHICAGO, July 7.—Richard Powers, who organized the Seamen's union, and who for ten years has been its president, failed of election last night, Thomas Elderken being chosen as his successor. Out of a total membership of 1,300, only sixty-four votes were cast. The slim attendance accounts for the defeat of Powers. His enemies, Socialists and personal, saw their opportunity and utilized it. Powers' defeat has created much dissatisfaction, the result of which, it is said, will be a split in the Seamen's assembly or the prompt ousting of the clique who have grabbed control of the organization.

The Glass Workers.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 7.—The Western Flint Bottle Manufacturers' association has about completed its preparations for the wage convention at Atlantic City on the 15th inst. It is stated that they will strenuously refuse to grant any advance and also ask reductions in several particulars, notably in the 10 per cent. paid for lettering bottles by the men, which the manufacturers will insist on being stricken out.

Riotous Laborers.
NEW YORK, July 7.—A number of acquiescent laborers went to Ardsley, near Cyrus Field's private park, on Monday night armed with dynamite and cartridges. They fired the cartridges in the streets. The glass was shaken out of the windows of A. S. Lent's residence and several other houses were damaged. Three of the ringleaders of the mob were arrested.

Preparing for Train Robbers.
AUSTIN, Tex., July 7.—A number of railway managers have been here in consultation with the governor trying to arrive at some plan by which railroads may be protected from train robbers. It has been determined to arm eight men on each passenger train. The governor is to have them sworn into service as regular rangers. They will be, as far as possible, regular train men and will be armed and paid by the railroad companies. To put eight men on each train will require 400 men to be sworn in.

Resisted the White Caps.
MARIENGO, Ind., July 7.—A terrible fight is reported here Saturday night between a band of "White Caps" and the Naushee brothers, John and Sherman. The regulators called at the house to whip John, whom they charged with having caused the separation of "Squire Tomer and wife by being criminally intimate with Mrs. T. The brothers, both heavy men, attacked the regulators with wagon spokes, and a fearful fight ensued. Sherman was shot and will die, and John was beaten nearly to death.

Seventy-one Round Prize Fight.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 7.—Peter Hurley, of Nanticoke, and Tom Hoar, of Wilkesbarre, fought seventy-one desperate rounds for the championship of northeastern Pennsylvania on the Fourth of July morning at Nanticoke. The men fought like bull-dogs and at the call for the seventy-second round, when the faces of the pugilists had been battered into jelly and several of their ribs had been broken, the fight was awarded to Hurley.

Natural Gas in Michigan.
PORT HURON, Mich., July 7.—One of the best gas wells that was ever opened in the west was struck last night near the First National bank in this city. Business men are getting excited already, and think the success of the wells that have been struck here is certain to give the town a boom on account of cheap fuel for manufacturing purposes.

A Railroad's Earnings.
BOSTON, July 7.—The gross earnings of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad for May were $1,533,716; increase over the same month last year $355,405; net earnings $683,171; increase $153,422. For five months this year the earnings of the road amounted to $7,749,758; increase over the same period last year $1,811,144; net $3,491,921; increase $1,722,701.

Alfred Pease's Father Dead.
BUFFALO, N. Y., July 7.—Sheldon Pease is dead. He was seventy-eight years old. He was prominently identified with lake marine interests for many years. He built and owned several propellers and was the manager of the transportation line. He retired in 1870. Mr. Pease was the father of the late Alfred H. Pease, pianist.

RAILROAD WRECK.

A Wild Engine and Caboose Itan Into the Rear of a Passenger Train.

BESSEMER, Mich., July 7.—The regular passenger train to Milwaukee was crowded with people Monday night, and the conductor found it necessary to stop the train in order to collect fares. While the train was at a stand-still a wild engine and caboose ran into the rear sleeper, setting fire to it and throwing several coaches from the track. The wildest excitement prevailed on the train. There was a general rush of passengers for the doors, but they were all found to be locked, and it was necessary to force them open before anybody could escape.

There were nearly three hundred people on board, including a large number of women. A number of the latter fainted during the excitement. Some of the passengers and train men succeeded in extinguishing the fire in the sleeper before the flames could spread to the coaches. Several passengers and trainmen were hurt by the collision. Their names are: O. Wild, of Eagle river, a passenger, slightly bruised; Dan. Tangway, of Warsaw, a passenger, hip injured; G. Ruiter, conductor on the sleeper, slightly bruised; Louis Curtis, Wisconsin Central yardmaster at Bessemer, leg broken; John Nath, a wiper on the freight engine, leg broken and otherwise injured.

DR. M'GLYNN'S PARISHIONERS.
They Declare Their Intention of Standing By Their Pastor.

NEW YORK, July 7.—St. Stephen's parish is thoroughly aroused over the excommunication of Dr. McGlynn. The decree has not yet arrived, and a priest says that it may be a week or more before its arrival. If any of McGlynn's adherents suffer excommunication they will be Dr. Carey and J. Feeney. Dr. Carey was chairman of the meetings held in the church to protest against Dr. McGlynn's suspension, and J. Feeney is chairman of the weekly evening meetings of McGlynn's sympathizers.

Dr. Carey thinks Dr. McGlynn will not be excommunicated. If he is, it will be a great mistake made on false information. He added that he would stick to Dr. McGlynn to the last. J. R. Feeney said that the excommunication of Dr. McGlynn would be productive of fearful consequences to the Catholic church in America. Dr. McGlynn has thousands of followers who would resent such interference. Dr. McGlynn would not start a schism in the Catholic church, but he will preach the gospel anyway, whether or not he is excommunicated. Feeney further said that if the sacraments are denied to Dr. McGlynn he will not take them himself.

A Fraud and a Sham.
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 7.—The Tribune editorially says: "The Mormon article pretending to abolish polygamy is a fraud and a sham. It admits unlawful cohabitation, the most prevalent and offensive feature, being continuous living in polygamy, and all that a Mormon would need to do to quietly marry polygamously, and keep the knowledge of the fact from obtrusively offending a Mormon prosecuting attorney for three years, and from thereafter he could live in the most shameless and indecent polygamy, with neither law nor constitution to say him nay. He would also be backed by the church and dominant sentiment, and the constitution would be laughed at and scorned, as the church program contemplates."

In Memory of His Dead Wife.
RACINE, Wis., July 7.—A few days ago Alderman Salbreiter, of the Seventh ward, issued invitations for a feast to the friends of his dead wife who were kind to her during her last sickness. Monday night the event occurred, and was one long to be remembered by those present. A large number of invited persons took advantage of the hospitalities extended and made the gathering one of revelry. Liquid refreshments were the order. The host used his utmost endeavors to eject the disorderly parties, but failed. On the street, outside the lawn, over three thousand people congregated to witness the festivities. The fact that physicians had been appointed to inquire into Mr. Salbreiter's mental condition enhanced the interest in the event.

The Death Rate in New York.
NEW YORK, July 7.—People here are becoming deeply alarmed over the increasing mortality in this city. The matter is such as to elicit the gravest fears. A combination of epidemic seems to be about to sweep the city. Scarlet fever has already carried off many children, typhoid fever has appeared in its most malignant type, small-pox is spreading and even the Asiatic cholera is said to be present. Monday there were over 200 deaths and Tuesday there were 208 deaths. This is something terrible to contemplate, and should it grow much worse a panic will likely ensue. As it is, as many people as can are fleeing to more healthful parts of the country. Extraordinary sanitary measures are being adopted.

A Fatal Mistake.
CINCINNATI, July 7.—Philip Ziegler, aged twenty-one, working for his brother-in-law, William Thilly, the saloon keeper at Vine and Longworth, has for some time been sick with typhoid pneumonia. His mother recently arrived from Germany to nurse him. Dr. Koehler, besides the medicine he prescribed for Koehler's maid, ordered carbolic acid, a disinfectant, to purify the air in the room. By mistake a dose of this was given Ziegler by his brother, and he died at 5 o'clock yesterday.

The Boston Advertiser Sold.
BOSTON, July 7.—The Advertiser and the Evening Record have been sold to Charles E. Whitin, of Whitinsville, for $100,000. All of the stock of the old corporation is wiped out, and all of the old stockholders retire from ownership in the new concern. In addition to the purchase price, Mr. Whitin assumes $100,000 indebtedness. The paper will remain Republican in politics.

No One Seriously Injured.
BROOK HAVEN, Miss., July 7.—A south bound passenger train on the Illinois Central railroad was thrown from the track by a misplaced switch yesterday morning, six miles south of here. The locomotive, tender and baggage car remained upright, but the rest of the train was dethatched. Seven coaches turned over, but, fortunately, no one was seriously injured.

Republican Records.

Just now the Republicans of Kentucky are making fine promises as to what they would do if they had control of the State Government. They are good at making promises which they never keep. This has been shown by the history of the past.

The record the Republicans made while in control of the National Government will give some idea as to what might be expected were they to secure control in this State. Read the following taken from "Facts for the People." It gives a record of extravagance and plundering almost unparalleled in the history of any party:

While the Republican State Governments were thus engaged in plundering the people, the Republican General Government was no less active in that respect. The following figures, taken from official reports, show the amount expended by the Republican party from 1867 to 1879, a period of only thirteen years, in time of profound peace, as compared with the amount expended by all former administrations, from the foundation of the Government to the year 1861, a period of seventy-two years, during which time the country had passed through two foreign wars:

13 years, from 1867 to 1879.....$2,249,855,001 34
72 years, from 1789 to 1861.....1,587,444,468 21
Difference.....$ 662,410,533 13

From 1862 to 1871, as reported by the Department of the Interior, it donated to corporations 294,758 square miles of public lands, worth, at a low estimate, more than $500,000,000 and greater in extent than seven States as large as Kentucky.

From the report of Mr. John Sherman, Republican Secretary of the Treasury, June 30, 1880, it had voted $64,623,312 of U. S. 6 per cent. bonds to six railroads, and in addition had paid from the U. S. Treasury $31,380,664.52 interest on those bonds over and above all receipts from the companies.

By the fraudulent conduct of the Freedman's Savings Bank, it had robbed the freedmen in the name of Republican philanthropy of nearly $3,000,000 in cash, in the interest of various corrupt rings.

It had enabled the corrupt Credit Mobilier ring to pocket $43,925,328.34 of the U. S. bonds as their profit for constructing a single line of railway.

A vote on local option will be taken in Louisville at the August election.

Dr. E. D. STANDFORD, a Democratic candidate for United States Senator, will be married this evening to Miss Lorena Scott, at the Methodist Church, in Paducah. The groom is one of Louisville's richest citizens while the bride is the daughter of a skilled mechanic.

During the Democratic administration over in Ohio under Governor Hoadley, the State debt was reduced $802,283 81. Since the Republicans went into power there under Governor Foraker the net increase in Ohio's debt amounts to $125,000.

The Cincinnati Telegram says: "If all the talk about Cleveland's 'rebel flag order' should finally result in the establishment at Washington of a national war museum to contain all the trophies gained by the government in its various conflicts, then Cleveland may appear in the light of a public benefactor after all."

In referring to the recent warm discussion between Colonel Bradley and Congressman McCreary at Richmond the Climax says: "However eloquent and powerful a Republican may be—and Col. Bradley is built that way—he can't work off any zig-zag figures on the State administration when Congressman McCreary is around."

BEFORE Colonel Bradley deserted the Democracy he made a speech at Danville on a certain occasion when he is reported to have said that if he thought he had a drop of Republican blood in his veins he would take a knife and let it out. The Colonel is just as rampant a Republican now as he was a Democrat then. But how will the Republicans like to vote for such a renegade in August?

THERE are five candidates for the Legislature in Jessamine County, and it's the field against the Democratic nominee. The Jessamine County Journal says: "All of them are clever fellows, but they will find that they are only stirring up Democratic leaders to such a pitch that a larger majority may be looked for at the next election than was ever polled in this county before."

THERE's a regular family row now brewing in the ranks of the Ohio Republicans. Sherman wants to be President, and Foraker has his heart set on the Vice Presidency. The Cleveland Plaindealer says Sherman, in a recent letter, referred to Foraker as a political mushroom, whose administration has been characterized by numerous costly political blunders, and dubs Little Breches with the awful name of "asinine trickster."

SEPARATION.

Along the eastern shore the low waves creep,
Making a ceaseless music on the sand—
A song that gulls and crinoids understand,
The lullaby that sings the day to sleep.
A thousand miles afar, the grim pines keep
Unending watch upon a shoreless land,
Yet through their tops, swept by some wizard hand,
The sound of surf comes singing up the steep.

Sweet, thou canst hear the tidal lullaby;
I, mid the pine land's silence, but dream
Of the fair shore; but though the distance seem
Between us fixed, impassable, to me
Cometh thy soul's voice, chanting love's old theme,
And mine doth answer, as the pines the sea.
—Ellen Burroughs in Scribner's.

Anglomaniac in 1802.

The anglomaniac of the present day can turn to the curious pages of last century's newspapers and learn that the mania which has seized him is of venerable origin and flourished in New York several generations ago. "Tommy Clod," in a New York newspaper of 1802, contributes a receipt for making young bucks, from which we give a few excerpts: "When you are fatigued with walking you may slip into Bryden's, or Evans', and every genteel person you may meet may accost you with 'damme, sir, the weather's hot,' etc. 'A gentleman can get no accommodation in this town. London is the place, sir,' and if you should get over a bottle of wine, you can talk about places which you never saw and circumstances that never happened; and if you tell a few lies it is not of much consequence, and will only tend to convince the person that you have a very fertile imagination. It will be necessary, before you talk about London, Paris or other populous cities to get acquainted with the principal streets, which you can easily do by going to any of the stores and perusing for five minutes the necessary books. * * * You must learn the most fashionable oaths, and every now and then, whenever you can find an opportunity, blend them with your conversation, for nothing adds so much to a man of consequence as a few of these pronounced with a proper emphasis."—The Argonaut.

Will Books Disappear?

"Will the coming man read books?" is the startling question that Henry Holt, one of the leading book publishers of the land, propounds in The Writer. He is led to it by reflection on the fact that there has been a remarkable falling off in the sales of bound volumes in the last ten years. "In novels, poems, travels, essays, histories, biographies," he says, "the publishers find that they can, as a rule, place but about one-third as many copies of a new novel book as they could ten years ago." The query comes, if the sale diminishes one-third in ten years, how long will it take for extinction? Surely here is food for most serious reflection. Was there ever such a sociologic revolution in the history of the civilized world as this will be if it culminates in the disappearance of the book? For the book has been the chief factor in the history of the world's mind, the library has been the most potent element for good in the life of the home, and the book writer the most revered and most influential of mankind. If, as Mr. Holt believes, the change is largely due to the great development of newspapers and periodicals, then, indeed, is the revolution essential and complete. "Will the coming man read books?"—Public Opinion.

Teaching a Horse to Walk Fast.

A lazy horse can be taught to walk fast by driving him alone and continually urging him to move as desired. Any particular word, promptly uttered every time the whip is applied, will soon give him to understand what is required. A systematic course of lessons at short intervals must be given in order to succeed.—Chicago Times.

G. M. D.

Walking down Broadway is very pleasant when you feel well, and T—K— never felt better than when his friend asked him how he got over that severe cough of his so speedily. "Ah, my boy," said T—K—, "G. M. D. did it!" And his friend wondered what G. M. D. meant. He knew it did not mean a good many doctors, for T—K— had tried a dozen in vain. "I have it," said he, just hitting the nail on the head, "you mean Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery,' or Gold Medal Deserved, as my friend J—S— always dubs it." Sold by druggists.

Most Excellent.

J. J. Atkins, Chief of Police, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "My family and I are beneficiaries of your most excellent medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; having found it to be all that you claim for it, desire to testify to its virtue. My friends to whom I have recommended it, praise it at every opportunity."

Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption is guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, Asthma, croup and every affection of throat, chest and lungs. Trial bottles free (Large size $1.00) at the Drug Stores of J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

Kind Words.

The Portsmouth Times says: "Maysville does all things well. Her people are among the most cordial and hospitable in the world. When the soldiers' monument in this city was dedicated a few years ago, the patriotic citizens of Maysville were an important factor in making the demonstration the magnificent success which it proved to be. She sent her superb military company and her fine band, and many of her citizens came up to join in the festivities. The Mason Guards and their band (Haucke's Reed and Brass Band) were the feature of the parade, and did escort duty and whatever else they were called upon to perform the same as if they were our own citizens, seeming to take the same interest in the celebration. Currier's Band, of Cincinnati, was employed at an exorbitant price, and only played one piece in the parade, and distinguished itself by making fun of the 'country town,' and at night, at the ball, received a proper setting down by the ladies and gentlemen present for furnishing clap-trap music for dancing, and went off in a huff. The Maysville Band (Haucke's) furnished better music for nothing, and the Mason Guards furnished a handsome and showy escort of young gentlemen, merely out of patriotism and neighborly good feeling."

Election of Teachers.

The Board of Education at a meeting last evening elected the following teachers for the city schools for the ensuing year:

High School—C. J. Hall, Principal; Miss Hannah Moore, assistant.
Intermediate—Josiah Wilson, Principal; Miss Elie B. Metcalfe, assistant.

District No. 2—Miss Fannie Day, Principal; Miss Anna Campbell and Miss Eleanor P. Wallace, assistants.
District No. 3—B. F. Williams, Principal; Miss Sallie Burrows, assistant.

The selection of Professor Hall as Principal of the High School meets with general approval, and is very gratifying to his many friends. He has had years of experience in the school room, and as an educator ranks among the most zealous in the State.

Miss Moore, his assistant, is a niece of Colonel Laban T. Moore, of Catlettsburg, and comes very highly recommended.

The grape crop promises to be unusually heavy this season in Central Kentucky.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shephard, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. F. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

FORTUNE FINDERS.

The Luck of Some New Orleans Men in the June Drawing of Louisiana State Lottery.

About noon on Wednesday three men stepped into the private office of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, and their smiling faces betrayed their errand. They were John W. Tenny, an engineer, and Charles Dennis and John Moran, watchmen, all three at present in Government employ, the latter on board the United States Government boat General Newton, and Tenny is engineer of the Ruby, the boats now lying near the exposition grounds, preparing for a trip to the Atchafalaya.

Dennis had a twentieth of the ticket which won the $300,000 prize, rolled up carelessly between his fingers. He straightened it out on the table, and said:

"There it is boys; we've got it."

"You see," said Dennis, "this is a 'combine.' We each buy a ticket every month, form a pool, and divide the profits. We have been buying tickets for several years, and at last we struck it." "It was his ticket that did the business," said Tenny. "Moran and I bought ours, but Dennis did not have a chance to go down town. He finally asked a friend of his to bring him up a dollar ticket. Dennis got his dollar ticket and put it in the pool. I thought no more of it until the morning after the drawing. I had the blues, but when I saw the Picayune you can guess the rest. There on top of the column were the figures 52,749, and opposite them the $300,000 prize. That is our number, and so Dennis, Moran and I told the boss that we had important business down town, and here we are."

"What are you going to do with the money?" asked the reporter.

"This is in confidence. We intend to deplete our finances considerably by having a good time, and after that we may go back to work just the same as ever. In fact, we may not quit work at all." Just then a check for the money they had won was brought to them, and the trio departed rejoicing. Dennis is from County Clare, Ireland, thirty-eight years of age, has been in America since childhood, and in New Orleans for five years. One of the first habits he acquired was to buy a lottery ticket monthly, and now he is glad he did it. Moran is an Orleansian bred and born. Tenny is from North Carolina, and says it is the first time he has had his name in the papers. All three are unmarried, and jolly good fellows.

The little office had not been long vacated when it came another caller. It was letter-carrier P. J. Mooney without his uniform. Mooney had found his luck at last and he found it with a dollar ticket in the June drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company. He is a native of New Orleans, twenty-seven years of age, is married, and lives with his family at 420 Ursuline street. In 1834 Postmaster Merchant appointed him to carry mail and he was retained under the Democratic administration.

Mooney did not believe much in lottery. He bought one ticket for a dollar and won nothing. This confirmed his belief or rather lack of it. A few days before the June drawing he determined to try again; among the five tickets he bought was one bearing the magic figures, 52,749. They were magic to him for they opened the gates of fortune in a day and made him comparatively a rich man. Mooney bought his tickets two days before the drawing, and when he saw the Picayune on Wednesday morning his joy can be imagined—No. 52,749 had won the $300,000 prize.

Mooney says he will invest his money and carry his mail bag with a lighter heart.

There were no other capital prize holders who called that day, the other fractions being held in distant parts of the country, but the reception of smaller holders continued until the doors were closed, tickets were presented and cashed, and the June drawing had been a lucky one for many. No matter in what mood the callers came, they all departed smiling.—New Orleans (La.) Picayune, June 18th, 1887.

Ask your grocer for Foerster's City Butter Crackers. They are the best.
